No. 94.—An official summary having been received of the terms of peace which have been communicated by the Allies to the Turkish delegates, the following message from His Excellency the Viceroy is published for general information :—

"To-day the decisions of the Supreme Council of the Allies in respect of the peace settlement with Turkey have been made known to the world. They have been reached after the most careful and anxious consideration of representations from the Muslims of all countries, and you have my assurance that before coming to its present decisions the Supreme Council has had all possible regard to those representations which have proceeded from the Mohammadan subjects of His Majesty in India. My Government are sending along with a summary of the Peace Terms a statement which explains the principal decisions and the reasons for them. These decisions are in full accordance with the high principles which have been applied in the Peace Settlements with all other Powers lately at war with Britain and her Allies. Nevertheless they include terms which, I fear, must be painful to all Muslims. The long delays which have prolonged our anxiety for over a year, although they have been unavoidable, have filled me with regret for your sakes and now in your hour of trial I desire to send you a message of encouragement and sympathy which I trust will uphold you. In the day of the Empire's need you made a splendid response to the call of your King and Country and by so doing you contributed much to the triumph of those ideals of justice and humanity for which the Allies fought. The Empire of which you form a part is now firmly established on these ideals and a great future of political progress and material prosperity is within the grasp of the Muslims of India, who have ever enjoyed under British Rule the fullest religious freedom. Before the late disastrous war Great Britain had always maintained the closest ties of friendship with Turkey and I am confident that, with the conclusion of this new treaty, that friendship will quickly take life again and a Turkey regenerate, full of hope and strength, will stand forth, in the future as in the past a pillar of the Islamic Faith. This thought will, I trust, strengthen you to accept the Peace Terms with resignation, courage and fortitude and to keep your loyalty towards the Crown bright and untarnished as it has been for so many generations."

HOME DEPARTMENT.

PUBLIC.

Simla, the 23rd April 1920.

No. 1140.—The attention of the Government of India has been drawn to a rule laid down by the Colonial Office that an officer who has retired from the Colonial Service may not accept a directorate of a company the principal part of whose business is directly concerned with the Colony or Protectorate in which he has served, or employment in the Colony or Protectorate under such a company, without obtaining the previous approval of the Governor; and they have had under consideration the question whether it is necessary to lay down some similar rule for retired officers of the Indian services.

2. After consultation with Local Governments and careful consideration of their views, the Government of India have come to the conclusion that, while it is not necessary at the present time to lay down a definite rule, it is desirable that retired Government servants, especially Gazetted officers, before accepting directorships, partnerships or agencies of, or employment by any company or firm or individual engaged in commercial business or associated with the management of land in India, should either obtain the consent of the Government of India, or if the company is managed in London, the consent of the Secretary of State. The Government of India believe that this procedure will conduce alike to the interests of the officers concerned and to those of the services generally, and are prepared to leave it to the good sense and loyalty of their officers to observe the procedure now suggested.

ACT No. XIV OF 1920.

An Act to provide more effectual control over the administration of Charitable and Religious Trusts.

WHEREAS it is expedient to provide facilities for the obtaining of information regarding trusts created for public purposes of a charitable or religious nature, and to enable the trustees of such trusts to obtain the directions of a Court on certain matters, and to make special provision for the payment of the expenditure incurred in certain suits against the trustees of such trusts; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title and extent.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Charitable and Religious Trusts Act, 1920.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India:

Provided that the Governor-General in Council may, by notification in the Gazette of India, direct that this Act, or any specified part thereof, shall not extend to any specified Province or area, or to any specified trust or class of trusts.

Interpretation

2. In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context, "the Court" means the Court of the District Judge, and includes the High Court in the exercise of its ordinary original civil jurisdiction.

Power to apply to the Court in respect of trusts of a charitable or religious nature

3. Save as hereinafter provided in this Act, any person having an interest in any express or constructive trust created or existing for a public purpose of a charitable or religious nature may apply by petition to the Court within the local limits of whose jurisdiction any substantial part of the subject-matter of the trust is situate to obtain an order embodying all or any of the following directions, namely:—

(1) directing the trustee to furnish the petitioner through the Court with particulars as to the nature and objects of the trust, and of the value, condition, management and application of the subject-matter of the trust, and of the income belonging thereto, or as to any of these matters, and

(2) directing that the accounts of the trust shall be examined and audited:

Provided that no person shall apply for any such direction in respect of accounts relating to a period more than three years prior to the date of the petition.

4. (1) The petition shall show in what way the petitioner claims to be interested in the trust, and shall specify, as far as may be, the particulars and the audit which he seeks to obtain.

(2) The petition shall be in writing and shall be signed and verified in the manner prescribed by the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, for signing and verifying plaints. V of 1908

Procedure on petition.

5. (1) If the Court on receipt of a petition under section 3, after taking such evidence and making such inquiry, if any, as it may consider necessary, is of opinion that the trust to which the petition relates is a trust to which this Act applies, and that the petitioner has an interest therein, it shall fix a date for the hearing of the petition, and shall cause a copy thereof, together with notice of the date so fixed, to be served on the trustee and upon any other person to whom in its opinion notice of the petition should be given.

(2) On the date fixed for the hearing of the petition, or on any subsequent date to which the hearing may be adjourned, the Court shall proceed to hear the petitioner and the trustee, if he appears, and any other person who has appeared in consequence of the notice, or who it considers ought to be heard, and shall make such further inquiries, if any, as it thinks fit. The trustee may and, if so required by the Court, shall at the time of the first hearing or within such time as the Court may

V of 1908.

(3) If any person appears at the hearing of the petition and either denies the existence of the trust or denies that it is a trust to which this Act applies, and undertakes to institute within three months a suit for a declaration to that effect and for any other appropriate relief, the Court shall order a stay of the proceedings and, if such suit is so instituted, shall continue the stay until the suit is finally decided.

(4) If no such undertaking is given, or if after the expiry of the three months no such suit has been instituted, the Court shall itself decide the question.

(3) On any date fixed under sub-section (2) or on any subsequent date to which the hearing may be adjourned, the Court, before giving any opinion, advice or direction, shall afford a reasonable opportunity of being heard to all persons appearing in connection with the petition.

(4) A trustee stating in good faith the facts of any matter relating to the trust in a petition under sub-section (1), and acting upon the opinion, advice or direction of the Court given thereon, shall be deemed, as far as his own responsibility is concerned, to have discharged his duty as such trustee in the matter in respect of which the petition was made.

Clause 12.

With the permission of His Excellency the President, the Hon'ble Mr. C. V. S. Narasimha Raju withdrew the following amendment of which he had given notice:—

"In clause 12 (1) omit the words 'of its members' between the words 'elect one and to be its chairman'."

The Hon'ble Mr. P. Siva Rao had given notice of the following amendment:—

"In clause 12 (1) omit the words 'one of its members to be'."

He said:—"Your Excellency, the next amendment is a more comprehensive one. So I do not propose to move this."

With the permission of His Excellency the President, the amendment was withdrawn.

The Hon'ble Mr. K. Venkatappayya Pantulu moved the following amendment:—

"In clause 12 (1) insert the words 'or any other voter in the municipality' after the word 'members'."

In doing so, he said:—"Your Excellency, my amendment is for vesting the power in a municipal council to vote for its chairman any other voter in the municipality. Of course as the rule stands in the Bill, the council can elect only one of its members, but my proposal is that they may be allowed even to go out of the council and select a man whom they think best fitted for the place. It is a matter of common experience that in a municipality there are several persons besides those in the council who are competent by reason of their past experience in the council and by reason of their general knowledge and capacity to act as chairman of the council. This amounts to the extending and not restricting the power of the council. In fact the Bill as it stands restricts the power as it limits the power of election only to the members of the council. Whereas my amendment gives them an opportunity to go out of the council and elect a person from amongst the voters. Of course my amendment does not allow the election of any one and every one but only one from among the voters. So, persons who are residents in the municipality who have got local knowledge of things will be brought in and it will be decidedly to the advantage of the council to have such persons. In fact there are persons who, though not willing to come forward as councillors, because they have already been councillors in the municipality and they wanted to give room for others younger than themselves, willing to come in as councillors, will be ready if only they are elected as chairmen to come forward and offer their services for the benefit of the council. Besides I may also point out that when the Government goes to appoint a chairman it need not restrict itself to any member in the council and the Government may appoint anybody outside the council whom they find competent to act as chairman. The Act as it now stands gives the council the power to go out of the council and appoint anybody. So all that I ask is that the old provision may be retained and that the restriction might be removed and they be given an opportunity and freedom to elect a man even outside the council."

The Hon'ble Mr. P. Siva Rao:—"I second this amendment. The Honourable mover has drawn the attention of the Council to the present provision. The present provision is—there is no restriction upon the choice of the council. It can elect anybody even from outside the council. I believe the provision in this Bill limiting the choice to one of the members of the council is certainly not conducive to efficient administration. If the choice is confined to 18 to 28 councillors out of a population of 30 or 35 thousand how could the choice be a right one. I may be called undemocratic in my methods. Even at the risk of my being told so I have great pleasure in seconding this amendment, and I shall also be told that this provision in the most logical and inevitable outcome of the present liberal policy of local self-government inaugurated under the present Bill. It is a notorious fact that many a decent man does not care to contest for elections. These democratic institutions are quite new to our country. When the chairman is elected by the councillors, who are the chosen representatives of the people, he is sufficiently responsible to the people themselves. Under the scheme of the Bill there is no objection to the Government nominating an outsider and there is the anomaly. There is no restriction on the Government appointing anybody. In the case of any municipality the Government may reserve the right to appoint a chairman. Then there is no provision that the Government should restrict its choice and confine themselves only to members of council."

The Hon'ble Diwan Bahadur Sir P. RAJAGOPALA ACHARIYAR:—"Will not the chairman appointed also not be appointed as councillor?"

The Hon'ble Mr P. SIVA RAO:—"The only provision is that a chairman appointed by Government shall hold office for one year. It does not restrict only to members of council. If there is no restriction on the choice of the Government, why should there be restriction on the choice of the council. The choice may be extended to any voter in the municipality. That is the only way of getting efficient men to become the chairmen of municipalities."

The Hon'ble Diwan Bahadur T. DESIKA ACHARIYAR:—"Your Excellency, I have to oppose this amendment on the ground that it is not consistent with the principles already recognized in the Act. A large number of electors in a municipality returns a number of councillors. They ask the councillors to carry on the administration of the municipality in the council appointing their own chairman. The councillors instead of doing their duty want to call upon an outsider to discharge all the functions they have been asked to discharge. That I do not think is logical. If the Governor in Council nominates a chairman, he need not necessarily be a councillor. The Bill as redrafted by the Select Committee provides that the chairman to be appointed by the Government holds office only for one year. It does not provide that he should be a councillor and the provision in the Bill as originally drafted, namely, that the chairman should also be ex-officio a councillor, has been omitted. Because the Governor in Council could select and appoint any person whether he be a councillor or not, it does not follow that the elected councillors who are responsible to their electors should select any person from among the voters and elect him as their chairman. The one does not follow from the other. On the other hand certain number of people who are elected by the voters of a municipality must choose from among themselves a person to preside over their deliberations and carry on the administration of the municipality. That seems to be the only logical way of settling an administration based on democratic principles. That is the reason why the Select Committee altered it in this manner."

The Hon'ble Diwan Bahadur Sir P. RAJAGOPALA ACHARIYAR:—"Your Excellency, after the exposition of the subject by the Hon'ble Mr Desika Achariyar, a member of the Select Committee, I have very little to say. I really do not see what exactly the difficulty is which the Hon'ble Mr Venkatappayya feels. We get a council at least three-fourths of which will be elected. These gentlemen come in and apparently one of their first difficulties will be that they cannot fix on one of their number to preside over their deliberations. the councillors will not agree among themselves to find one of them to preside over and conduct the administration on their behalf for the not very long period of one year. Now I appeal to Honourable Members to consider if this is at all a reasonable apprehension. It is true that we have the provision in the present law, that the council may choose an outsider as chairman, and I know instances in which that has been done. I know who have been so chosen and I know the councils that have so chosen during the last three or four years. The Hon'ble Mr. Venkatappayya contemplates the contingency that there may be somebody pre-eminently fitted to be the head of the council, but unfortunately the man will not pick up sufficient courage to stand for election. As I have already said, such people probably do not exist except in our imaginations and, even if they do, it is a matter for consideration if we may not ask those gentlemen to pick up courage to stand for election. There is no great harm in being defeated in an election. I shall now explain how this provision for an outsider being elected as chairman now works. It is generally used so as to enable a factious council to settle its differences by getting an outsider into office. I don't think that we should provide a loophole for that kind of council in that way. It should not be difficult for a number of councillors sitting together to determine among themselves and make up their minds to choose some one man among themselves to serve as their chief. Several of the people who have come in as chairman over the heads of councillors have come in this way, namely, that on account of factions in the municipality it has been found expedient to find an outsider so as to save the councillors the task of settling their differences and making up their minds. I strongly advise Honourable Members to accept the position laid down by the Select Committee and to say definitely that, where a council is permitted to choose its head for the year, the councillors shall choose one of their number."

The Hon'ble Mr. B. VENKATAPATI RAJU:—"Your Excellency, the sound advice given by the Hon'ble Sir P. Rajagopala Achariyar is not at all acceptable to this side for the simple reason. We should not jeopardize the future reformed councils by being reactionary. I appeal to the Government side that they should not be reactionaries. What is it we have already got for the last 30 years we have been allowed to select outsiders. Yesterday we were referred by the Honourable Member to English experience. In England the Mayor is annually chosen by the council from among its own members or among persons qualified. Why should our Government be unlike in this matter. We have been trying experiments all along. The question is not to impose any condition on the council. Why should you restrain their choice. If they find a person qualified among themselves, they will not go for an outsider. If they do not find a qualified man among themselves, why should you restrain or say that they should not select an outsider. It is impossible for them to appoint if restrictions are imposed. Only the people should be given free choice. Is it giving power or restraining power? I appeal to the Government not to impose any restrictions. If the Government want to appoint anybody they have a free choice; but it is only as regards the people that they impose restrictions in the choice."

The Hon'ble Diwan Bahadur P. THAGARAYA CHETTI:—"I believe that under the existing section one of the conditions is conducive to the good administration of the council because if there is a chance for any elector or voter to become President all good men will think it worth their while to stand for councillorship. If that is removed and the incentive is gone nobody will come in. I think good men who do not wish to rub shoulders with others will not find it very convenient for them to compete and fail and lose even the opportunity of becoming a councillor. It is a very good thing if this is limited to the councillors; good men will stand forward with the hope that they will one day be the president or chairman."

The Hon'ble Mr. C. V. S. NARASIMHA RAJU:—"The amendment is intended to enlarge the sphere of election to the council. The council in its daily work will have ample opportunities to form a fair estimate of the capacities and capabilities of the councillors and know who is fit to be a chairman. When the majority of the councillors are satisfied that they have got one among them who can discharge the duties, they will surely elect him. When the majority of the council feel that there is no one in the council to discharge the onerous duties of a chairman, then they will go in for an outsider. The amendment is only intended to enlarge the sphere of choice of the council. I don't think there will be any difficulty in accepting the amendment."

The Hon'ble Mr. T. R. RAMACHANDRA AYYAR:—"It stands to reason that the best available man should be chosen for any post and the question is whether there is any reason for imposing any restriction on the discretion of the councillors. The councillors are persons who do not try to choose an outsider if they can possibly avoid it and if they can secure one among themselves who would like to be the chairman. But if the collective sense of the councillors is that the outsider would be the best under the circumstances, I don't see how it infringes on any principle that could be laid down in allowing them to choose the best man either from persons elected by the electorate or from the electors, who are all persons interested. Now when the Government appoints the Government can disregard any rule and they can appoint an officer, a person who is unconnected with the district or the municipality and yet the administration would be all right. Therefore they can allow the council to exercise the fullest discretion in the appointment of the chairman. I think when we have got so many educated men in the country who are likely to be chosen the chances are that they will exercise that discretion in the wisest manner possible. There is very great advantage in allowing them to choose their own chairman."

The Hon'ble the Rev. E. M. MACPHAIL:—"The question is, is it desired by the Municipal Bill to give the electors some say in the choice of the chairman. That is really what it comes to. The amendment amounts to a proposal to allow a handful of councillors to elect a chairman without reference to the views of the electors who will have no voice at all in the nomination of the chairman. By the provision in the Bill at present no one can be chosen as chairman unless he has received the suffrages of a certain number of his fellow-citizens."

The Hon'ble Mr. B. V. NARASIMHA AYYAR:—"Your Excellency, I find that a number of sections are quoted and applied in all contrary directions. In the first place Mr. Desika Acheriyar began his contest by stating that the proposed amendment is not consistent with the principle recognized by the Act. That is very strange. We are trying to set out what the principle of the Act should be. So that argument is begging the question. The next thing put forward was that it was illogical for one of the voters out on the council to be made to stand as chairman. Our knowledge of similar institutions abroad will enable us to remember cases where all the electors join together to elect their chairman. That is certainly not an unimaginable and impossible arrangement and there is a great deal to be said for it from Mr. Macphail's point of view. Mr. Macphail's first point was that the general voter should have the power to determine the chairman. The logical conclusion is that the voters themselves should elect their own chairman. That appears to be the most democratic way of doing things. Anyhow the difficulty of the Hon'ble Mr Desika Acheriyar in finding logic in one of the voters being selected by them as chairman, I cannot understand. The Hon'ble Sir Rajagopala Acharlyar has put forward a very interesting question and asked 'Is it likely that when you select a dozen or two as councillors you will not find one among them to serve as chairman?' The question appears to be natural; but when he was Registrar of Co-operative Societies he came to Salem and told us 'You should meet together and elect your directors for a society and then the directors should elect the chairman or president.' What happened was, that various forces came into play when the directors were selected. They managed to exclude a particular man, who was the only one able to run the institution, and who was intended to be the Secretary and the life and soul of the society. So also in the case of the municipal chairman, who is often the life and soul of the successful administration of the municipality. If you are going to work on the new principle, I submit the position is that you have to appoint the best man for the
